Nixon Creates Council To Revamp Government

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon created today a special advisory council to recommend reorganization of the federal government and named a career diplomat to be ambassador to Brazil.

Nixon set up a five-member council to look into organization of the executive branch "in light of today's changing requirements of government" and to try to find solutions to intra-agency problems and any hitches in federal dealings with states and cities in administering domestic programs.

Roy L. Ash, president of Litton Industries, Inc., will be chairman of the council, which will hold an organizational meeting in Washington on April 10. Ash advised Nixon, when he was president-elect, in the general area of government reorganization.

The role of the council will be to serve as a little "Hoover Commission." During the Truman administration former President Herbert Hoover headed a commission that mapped out a major federal overhaul.

To be nominated as ambassador to Brazil is Charles Burke Elbrick, 60, who has served most recently as envoy to Yugoslavia. He will succeed John W. Tuthill in Rio de Janeiro.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced Nixon, who will return to Washington Sunday night after an Easter stay at his waterfront home here, will throw out the first ball of the 1969 major league baseball season Monday when the Washington Senators meet the New York Yankees in the capital's Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

Nixon also is expected to make an appearance at the traditional Easter Monday egg roll on the south lawn of the White House.

In another personnel action, Nixon decided to nominate Democrat L. J. Andolsek for a second six-year term as a member of the Civil Service Commission.

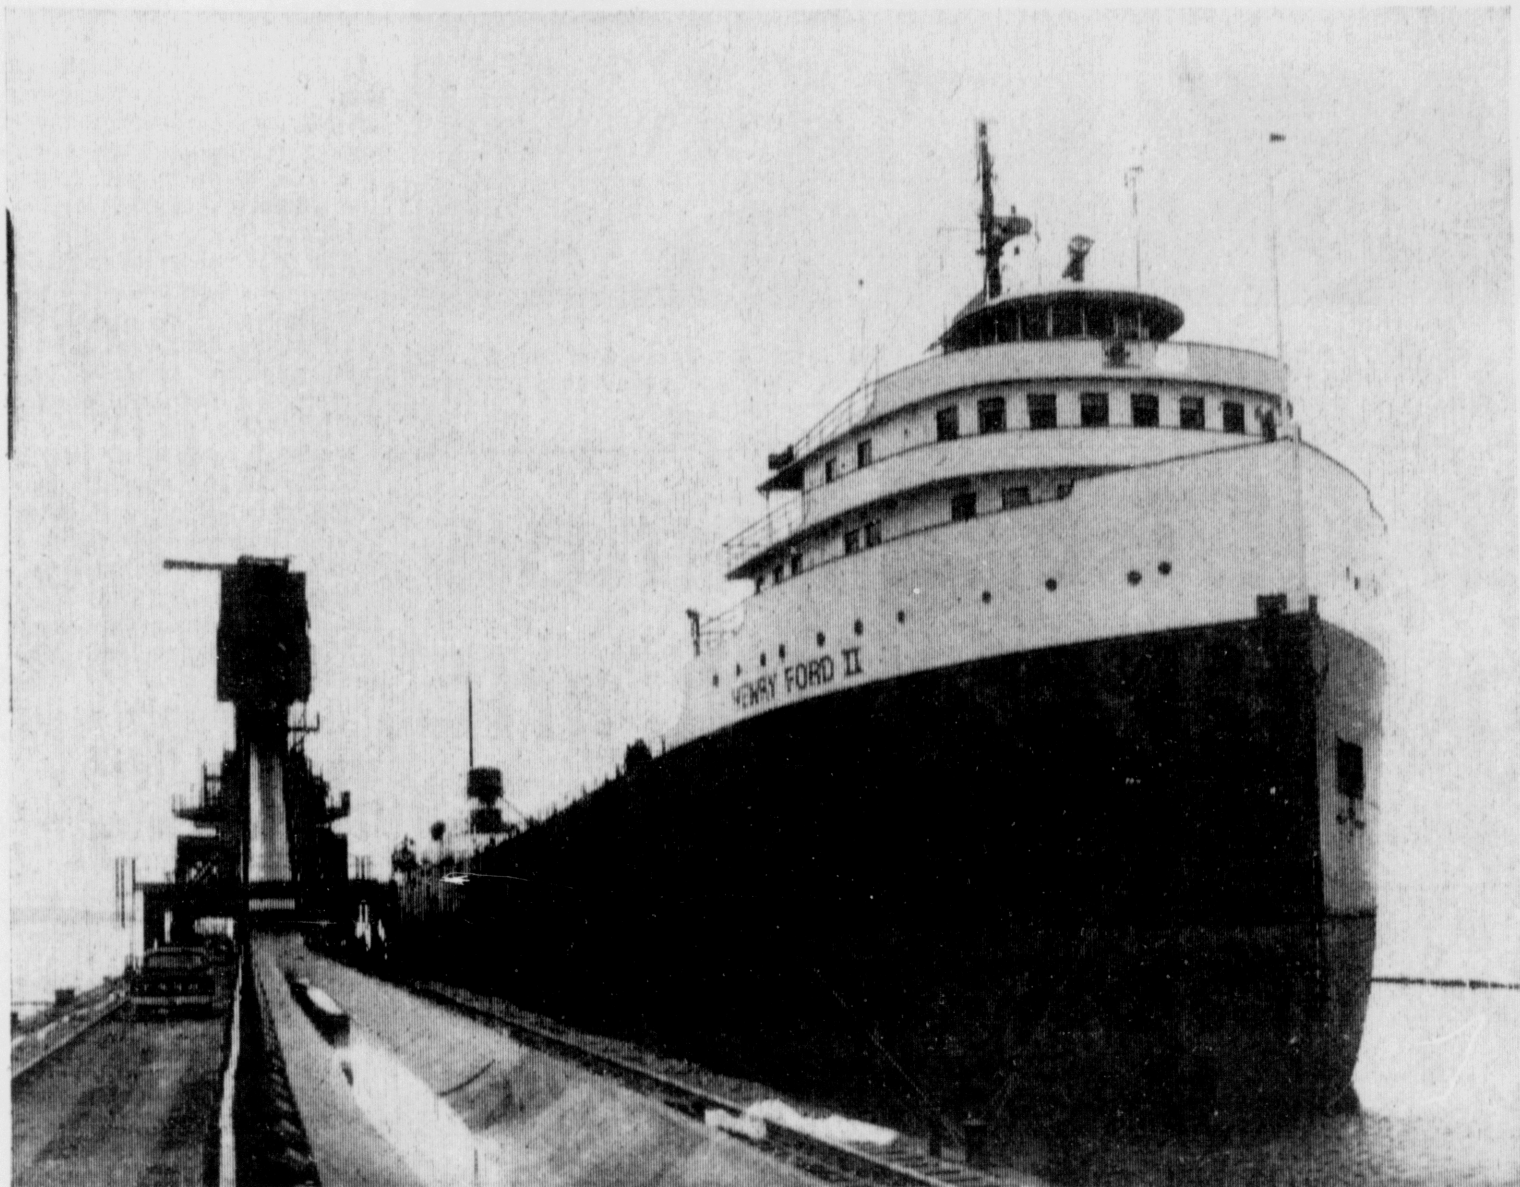

The chief executive held a domestic policy conference with five advisers Friday. Ziegler said the President is moving toward final decisions on the domestic programs he will sponsor.

The announcement on creation of the advisory council said the group "will provide over-all and specific recommendations for improved effectiveness" and will deal with both immediate and long-range needs.

No date has been fixed for the group to complete its work. Other members of the council are: Dean George Baker of the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, Cambridge, Mass.; former Texas Gov. John B. Connolly, now with a Houston law firm; Frederick R. Kappel, chairman of the executive committee of the American Telephone and Co., New York; and Richard M. Paget, of the Manhattan management consultant firm of Creasap, McCormick and Paget.

Abernathy Leads March On Alabama's Capitol

By The Associated Press

On the first anniversary of his assassination, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was memorialized in services, marches and vigils across the nation. Speakers pleaded for a rededication to his battle for human rights.

The observances Friday in hundreds of towns and cities were peaceful. But in Memphis, Tenn., where King was killed on April 4, 1968, a mass march was taken as an opportunity by vandals to smash store windows.

A curfew ordered by Mayor Henry Loeb and cool rain emptied the streets during the night. Police had arrested more than 70 persons by midnight for curfew violations, looting, burglary and assault.

In Montgomery, Ala., several thousand Negroes camped through the night in a huge field behind a Roman Catholic school. They were waiting the start of a march on the State Capitol today in memory of King.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, who succeeded King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was to lead the march. He headed the services for King in Memphis Friday.

Chicago Calm

The day passed calmly in Chicago, the only other city where mourning was marred by violence. There were outbreaks in two neighborhoods Thursday by groups of Negro youths.

Police and 5,000 National Guardsmen stood by in case of further trouble but only one minor shooting incident was reported.

The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., speaking at a special Good Friday service in suburban Evanston, called on blacks and whites to follow the nonviolent principles of his son.

"Violence gains nothing," the elder King said. "Good men will always be opposed to looting, killing and rioting. We must strive continually for peace, justice and fair play."

Nixon's Message

President Nixon sent a message of condolence to Dr. King's widow, Coretta, in Atlanta, which was delivered by Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, on the eve of the anniversary.

Mrs. King avoided public ceremonies during the day but did visit her husband's grave with her four children. She placed a red and white cross of flowers on the gravestone inscribed:

"Free at last, free at last, thank God Almighty I'm free at last."

In Nashville some 300 demonstrators marched to the grounds of the Tennessee State Prison where James Earl Ray is serving a 99-year sentence for King's murder. They said their purpose was to remind Ray "of what he did."

Leads Opposition

Boston Mayor Kevin White called on Congress to declare King's birthday a national holiday.

Later hundreds of Negroes held a black-only rally in King's honor, at one point asking a Roman Catholic priest and four nuns, all white, to leave.

In Alaska, a member of the John Birch Society led the opposition forces that defeated a resolution in the State Senate to ask Congress to declare King's birthday a national day of mourning.

Sen. Clyde R. Lewis, an Anchorage Republican and member of the Birch Society's National Council, said King had "contributed more than anyone else to the present campus rioting and street rioting."

Close To Solution In Police Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — The search for the slayer of a white patrolman last Saturday night "is progressing nicely rapidly," said the detective heading the effort, but he added no arrests are imminent.

"If we say it is close to a solution, it might lead people to think an arrest is imminent, which is not," said Detective Inspector Delore Ricard, commander of the police homicide bureau.

Ricard was asked to comment on a statement made over police radio by Commissioner Johannes Spreen that investigators may be "nearing a solution" to the slaying.

Spreen declined to amplify on his statement.

Emergency Court

The presidents of four bar associations, meanwhile, said controversial decisions by Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett following the slaying are "entitled to be respected." Crockett, hearing of mass arrests which followed the slaying and the wounding of another officer last Saturday night after the adjournment of a black separatist rally, set up an emergency court session and gave orders to release nine men whom police said had fired weapons in the incident.

Nearing Solution

"Our investigation into the events that took place last Saturday night are still going on," Spreen said in his police radio statement. "We feel we are nearing a solution to the shooting... thanks to the cooperation of many concerned citizens as well as the fine efforts of our own police department."

"The shooting was a question of right and wrong—not black and white... we must continue to serve and protect every citizen of Detroit and to keep the peace," Spreen said.

Ex-Captain Says Great Lakes Idea Practical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some congressmen and lobbyists are suggesting a floating and highly mobile armada of missile-launching ships on U. S. lakes and bays as an alternative to the proposed landlocked Safeguard antimissile system.

Rep. William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., a retired Navy captain, told a newsman Friday the idea of deploying the ships on the Great Lakes, Utah's Great Salt Lake, the Chesapeake Bay and waters adjacent to the Alaskan panhandle is entirely practical.

The Nixon administration proposes building the antimissile sites on the ground at 12 locations, the first two by 1973 in Montana and North Dakota.

Authors Unknown

But a paper, whose authors are unknown, is circulating through Capitol Hill offices suggesting the lakes and bays would afford better cover from snooping satellites and other tracking methods.

"These bodies of water may look minuscule compared to the Atlantic Ocean but they are quite large to make it impracticable for the Soviet Union to toss an ICBM at every area a ship could be in," it says.

And, it contends, the ships could do a better job at less cost than the landlocked missile bases.

The Navy has not commented on the paper and the proposal has not been introduced at any ABM hearings on the Hill.

It is not known whether the authors of the report, who have not been identified, have any organizational backing.

Anderson, who navigated the submarine Nautilus on its historic voyage beneath the north pole 11 years ago, suggested the ships might cruise at high speeds on random courses. With frequent protection offered by cloud cover, darkness or camouflage, he said, they would be difficult to pinpoint by surveillance satellite.

Shadowed

Intrigued by the idea, Anderson agreed that it might solve the problem of maintaining a second strike capability that President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird seek to protect through a modified ABM system.

The report suggests that in proposing the Safeguard system, the administration framed the ABM issue too narrowly.

The report also suggested that if Polaris submarines, operating beneath the high seas as this nation's primary deterrent to nuclear attack, could be shadowed by a potential enemy, mobile missile launchers must be placed where they couldn't legally be followed.

That, the paper submits, is within the boundaries of the United States.

Buddhists Observe Birth Of Buddha

HONOLULU (AP) — While Christians here are celebrating the resurrection of Christ Sunday, Buddhists will be observing the birth of Gautama Buddha.

It is the first time in years the local Buddhist observance of Hanamatsuri, or Buddha Day, coincides with Easter Sunday. Buddha's birthday is April 8, but the Hawaii missions hold their traditional observance on the nearest Sunday. Nearly 20 per cent of Hawaii's population is Buddhist.

Christians To Celebrate Christ's Resurrection

By The Associated Press

Pope Paul VI will light a Paschal candle at a vigil service today as Christians around the world prepare to celebrate the resurrection of Christ.

Thousands of pilgrims, who have been clogging the streets of Rome for the past few days, were expected in St. Peter's Basilica to join with the pontiff in the vigil and the mass of joy commemorating the end of Christ's entombment.

Meanwhile, vestments were set aside for the Pope to change into during today's ceremony after removing his purple robes. This signifies the end of mourning for the death of Christ on Good Friday and the coming of Easter.

In the Holy Land 1,000 pilgrims were gathered in Jerusalem for vigil services at the 400-year-old Church of the Holy Sepulchre, which tradition holds is the site of Christ's tomb.

It was the second Holy Week in Jerusalem under Israeli rule and it passed as peacefully as any other. White-capped security guards mingled with the crowd, thinned by the absence of Arab pilgrims who used to throng the city when it was divided under Jordanian and Israeli rule. The Israelis captured it during the June 1967 war with the Arabs.

In Vietnam, chaplains in combat fatigues visited jungle outposts to conduct services for American servicemen.

In the United States, millions of persons prepared to attend vigil or pre-dawn Easter services, many of them in outdoor arenas.

As thousands of college students romped on beaches from California to Florida, women were shopping to put final touches on their Easter outfits and children were dyeing eggs in preparation for egg hunts.

Airports, railroad and bus terminals and highways were jammed with travelers on weekend trips or beginning spring vacations.

In Lititz, Pa., a trombone choir from the Moravian

Congregation paraded through the streets at 3 a.m. to wake the townspeople for the 5 a.m. service at God's Acre, a cemetery site.

Many of the services will include dramatic presentations.

A cast of 4,000 persons in Marion, Ind., will reenact the events in the last week of Christ's life while another 6,000 persons look on.

In southwest Oklahoma, near Lawton, a cast of 500 were to present "Love One Another," drawn from the 15th verse, 17th chapter of John at the 44th Wichita Mountain Easter Service. An estimated 15,000 persons were expected.

In New York, matrons in fancy bonnets and hippies in flower shirts were expected for the Fifth Avenue Easter parade.

Hitched Ride To Stolen Car Trial

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Harry Gordon Frazier, 21, was in Kansas City, 50 miles south of here and had no way to get to St. Joseph to appear in federal court on a stolen car charge.

So he dropped into the Kansas City office of the prosecutor—U.S. Dist. Atty. Calvin Hamilton—and hitched a ride.

When they reached St. Joseph, Hamilton told Judge Richard Duncan: "I want the court to know the circumstances. At no time did we discuss the defendant's case. We talked about the weather."

And when Frazier was released on $1,000 bond, Hamilton arranged a ride back to Kansas City for him with another federal official.

Await Human Donor

Artificial Heart Placed In Man

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An artificial heart of fabric and plastic functioned today in the chest of a 47-year-old man, first recipient of such a device, as his wife appealed for a human heart donor.

"I see him lying there, breathing and knowing that within his chest is a manmade implement where there should be a God-given heart," said Shirley Karp.

Her husband, Haskell Karp, of Skokie, Ill., is the first human to receive a completely artificial heart transplant. A surgical team headed by Dr. Denton A. Cooley performed the three-hour operation Friday at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

Remove Tube

Karp, father of three children, was conscious two hours after the operation and responded to commands to raise and lower his hands and open and close his eyes, a hospital spokesman said.

A tube placed in his throat to assist breathing was removed early today and he was able to murmur several words. The hospital said at 5:30 a.m. that he was "awake and alert and his condition remains stable and satisfactory as he awaits the availability of a suitable human heart donor."

His wife, who visited him briefly in early morning, wept as she appealed for a heart donor. "Someone, somewhere, hear my plea. How long he can survive, one can only guess," she said.

"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh," she added. "But the Lord also gave us gifted men such as Dr. Denton Cooley and Dr. Domingo Liotta, who are instrumental in prolonging life. Maybe somewhere there is a gift of a heart for my husband. Please..."

When Mrs. Karp entered her husband's room, their oldest son, Michael, 22, watched from an operating room gallery. Two other children, Joel, 19, and Martin, 11, stayed home in Illinois.

The artificial heart is about the size of a man's fist and weighs eight ounces. Its power plant is the size of a filing cabinet four drawers high and two drawers wide.

Ray Of Hope

A hospital administrator emphasized that the artificial implant was "an interim step" until a human donor can be found with "irreversible brain damage, a good cardiac function and O positive blood."

A ray of hope surrounded the hospital in the pre-dawn hours when word was received that a heart from a Cleveland, Tex., woman who died in childbirth might be available. The heart was maintained by a respirator but ceased to function a few blocks from St. Luke's.

"I'm disappointed over this, of course," said Cooley, who had performed 18 human heart transplants. "I'm waiting. We're still waiting for a donor."

Mrs. Karp, in her appeal made public by hospital administrator Henry Reinhard, said: "I cry without tears. I wait hopefully. Our children wait hopefully, and we pray."

Cooley said the artificial heart cost $5,000, and the power device $20,000.

"It provides the backup we need in a heart transplant program," said Cooley. "This would permit us to maintain the life of a dead person until a cardiac donor may become available."

Doctors first hoped to correct Karp's condition by removing a segment of the heart muscle and reconstructing a pumping chamber by plastic surgery.

Retirement of Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, and appointment of David L. Andrews to succeed him was announced today by Ralph S. Kaziatek, general manager of the newspaper.

The change will be effective May 1, Kaziatek said.

Worth, one of the premier newsmen of the Upper Peninsula, has been editor of the Daily Press since April, 1955. He will be 65 years old May 5.

Andrews, a native of Escanaba, has been city editor of the Daily Press since October, 1964. No appointment to succeed Andrews as city editor has been made.

Clint Dunathan, who will retire at the close of 1970, will remain in his present capacity as managing editor.

John McGoff, president of Panax Corp. which owns the Escanaba Daily Press along with the Marquette Mining Journal and the Iron Mountain News in the Upper Peninsula, said that Panax will miss Jean Worth as an active newspaperman.

"He has been a great asset to the Upper Peninsula and one of the leaders of the community," McGoff said. "We wish him the best of life during his retirement."

Invitations to a testimonial dinner for Worth scheduled May 7 at the Terrace were mailed this week by a committee of local businessmen. The dinner is planned as a salute "recognizing his outstanding career as a newspaperman and outstanding citizen of Michigan."

Worth, a native of Menominee and son of a lumberman, is a graduate of Menominee High School and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York City. He followed a late older brother into the newspaper business and joined the Menominee Herald-Leader after graduation from high school.

Shoreline Unit Fights Utility

Leaders of Citizens to Save the Superior Shoreline held its first meeting at the Holiday Inn, Marquette Tuesday and designated a steering committee of 15. The first meeting began formalizing the group structure considered necessary if the group is to be concerned with not only the Lake Superior shoreline, but the shoreline of all the Great Lakes; and to take immediate action to further its specific cause — prevention of the construction of a power plant by the Upper Peninsula Power Co. on the Lake Superior shoreline at the Little Presque Isle Point.

The power company plans to purchase 400 acres of land northwest of Marquette and construct an $18 million power plant on the Lake Superior shoreline there. This would be the first unit of an anticipated complex costing as much as $200 million, said CSSS.

Gordon M. Labuhn who has been serving as temporary chairman said that support for the cause had expanded.

A communication had been sent to Russell Hoyer, chairman of the Upper Peninsula Power Co.

"The way appears to be legally clear for building your new power plant at Little Presque Isle. We sincerely hope that your company will rise to break the traditional pattern of industry interpreting a legal right as a moral right to abuse and destroy the natural environment. We firmly believe that an area like Little Presque Isle should belong not to individual land owners, not to U.P. Power Co., not to Marquette Township but to nature and to all men. Our efforts will be directed toward realizing this belief."

"We ask you to seriously reconsider and to withdraw your plans for constructing a generating plant on Little Presque Isle Point."

Escanaba Files Abatement Pact

LANSING (AP) — Many Michigan communities are voluntarily correcting their own pollution problems, reports the State Water Resources Commission.

The commission notified 85 communities last June that their waste treatment plants must be upgraded through the additions of secondary treatment facilities and installation of phosphorus removal facilities or both.

So far, the commission said, 20 communities have signed agreements to comply with commission orders. Another 34 have notified the commission they will proceed on a voluntary basis.

The 20 communities signing early pollution abatement agreements include:

Berrien Springs, Andrews University at Berrien Springs, Fremont, Boyne City, Charlevoix, Escanaba, Hastings, Hillsdale, Holland, Kalamazoo, Manistee, Marshall, Menominee, Muskegon, Niles, Petoskey, Plainwell, Rogers City, Spring Lake and Vicksburg.

Cite Discrimination In Parochial Fight

LANSING (AP) — A constitutional question involving religious discrimination is being raised in the controversy over granting an estimated $45 million in state funds for nonpublic schools.

"There will be discrimination on the basis of religion," says Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D - Bay City, chief sponsor of the bill.

Traxler emphasizes, however, that if a nonpublic school discriminated on the basis of race it would not be eligible for state funds under his proposal.

The powerful Michigan Education Association, which plans to mobilize its 68,000 members against the proposal, questions the constitutionality of any discrimination.

What about the state constitution, the MEA asks, which states: "Every school district shall provide for the education of its pupils without discrimination as to religion, creed, race, color or national origin."

Don't Have Districts "That obviously refers to public education," Traxler counters. "Nonpublic schools don't have districts." Traxler also points to the sentence in the constitution immediately preceding the one quoted.

"The Legislature shall maintain and support a system of free public elementary and secondary schools," it says.

The proposal now pending in the House, Traxler says, would finance some 25 per cent of the operating cost of nonpublic schools.

"That means the parents or governing boards of the nonpublic schools will be paying 75 per cent," he says.

"To say that nonpublic schools must accept every child who presents himself at that door is a gross injustice to the parent or governing board which is paying 75 per cent of that school's operating cost."

Preference Jerry Coomes, executive director of the Michigan Catholic

Conference, suggests "discrimination" is not the proper term. "It's preference," he says. "Schools give preference to the children of parents who as of now support 100 per cent of the school costs."

A long-standing Catholic Conference policy says that "under no circumstances shall an otherwise qualified pupil, whether Catholic or not, be denied admission because of his race or color."

Meanwhile, a Republican state senator charged Friday that the House Education Committee acted irresponsibly when it reported out the controversial parochial bill before considering state aid to public schools.

Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe of Dearborn, a former teacher, said she was "fully aware of and sympathetic to the problem of nonpublic schools."

Single Package "But we should put first things first," she said.

"Last year, when Republicans controlled the House of Representatives, the state aid bill was already passed by April 15," Mrs. Beebe pointed out.

"But here we have a situation where the state aid bill—which must finance education for 2.1 million public school children—is still buried in the House Education Committee."

Mrs. Beebe said she believed the education problem should be considered as a single package. "It is so closely allied with proper financing that it is unthinkable that the House should fracture the issue by reporting out the parochial bill before taking care of the public school children," she said.

LS&I Railroad Shortens Marquette Shipping

Ore Diversion To Escanaba Ordered

By KENNETH S. LOWE
Of Panax Newspapers

The year 1969 will be one of transition for the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railroad Co., Lynn B. Coleman, Marquette, LS&I president, has told stockholders of the company.

He said a major portion of the iron ore tonnage produced on the Marquette Range this year should move via the LS&I-Chicago & North Western Railway under the provisions of revised joint tariffs to the new Escanaba ship loading and storage facility.

Coleman emphasized that, although some ores have been moved to Escanaba for many years under this joint tariff between the LS&I and C&NW, the revision does result in lower transportation costs for Marquette Range shippers using the Port of Escanaba.

He pointed out that the railroads do not select the rail route or loading dock to be used. Instead, this is done on the basis of instructions received from either the shipper or the receiver of the shipment.

Less For Marquette

Asked how the operation of the new $16 million facility in Escanaba would affect shipments from the LS&I's dock in Marquette, Coleman noted that the all-time record shipment over the LS&I dock occurred in 1967 when 6,373,701 gross tons were shipped. Last year, 5,315,156 tons were shipped. This year, he said, shipments over the LS&I dock could be as low as 2,000,000 gross tons.

Coleman stressed that, despite the reduced tonnage, the LS&I will continue to maintain its dock here. Questioned as to which ores might be handled at Marquette, Coleman said that shipments probably will be confined to ore destined for across Lake Superior or to a few lower lake consumers, as well as that used to complete loading of vessels moving with part cargoes from "head of the lake" docks on Lake Superior.

21 Trains A Day

The LS&I has been operating with an average of up to 21 train and engine crews per day during periods of relatively heavy movement. While there will be some reduction in the number of crews because of the changes in operation, the exact number of crews which will continue to be utilized will depend in part on the outcome of negotiations between local unions representing LS&I and C&NW.

The LS&I extends from the Republic Mine to Munising, with branches to Martins Landing north of Champion; to Hartho, site of Fox Cliffs Lumber Co. sawmill in Alger County, and to Little Lake. The railroad serves the Republic, Empire, Mather, Humboldt and Tracy mines and the ore improvement plant and Pioneer pellet plant at Eagle Mills.

The average number of employees last year was 306.

Strong Competition

Coleman said the new facility at Escanaba for receiving and transloading iron ore offers the LS&I an opportunity to preserve and improve its overall operation against strong competition.

He said development of the facility and its use by Marquette Range shippers will (1) place Marquette Range ores in a more favorable competitive position with foreign ores, (2) create a greater ability for the range to compete with other national domestic ores because of the more attractive transportation costs and (3) provide a facility oriented to minimize cyclical operations, such as presently exists on the LS&I. The new storage facility at Escanaba will enable the railroad to ship iron ore on a year around basis, thus permitting maximum utilization of its property, equipment and work forces.

"The Escanaba location offers great attractiveness in that the shipping season is longer than that on Lake Superior and that its location will generally reduce mileage, especially in view of the expanding market brought about by new steel mills in the Midwest," Coleman said.

Detroit Raises Fund For Capture Of Slayer

DETROIT (AP) — A group of Detroit's top civic, police and governmental officials announced Friday that a major drive will be launched to obtain funds for a reward leading to the capture of a policeman's slayer and to rebuild a church shot up in a gunfight between police and a group of Negroes.

The announcement was made jointly by Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh and officials of New Detroit Inc., the group set up after the July 1967 riot to aid in rebuilding the city and improving racial attitudes.

Max M. Fisher, chairman of New Detroit, said the reward would be "substantial" for capture of the killer last Saturday night of Patrolman Michael Czapski. Czapski was slain and his partner, Patrolman Richard Worobec, was wounded when they sought to question a group of armed men outside the New Bethel Baptist Church. The church had been rented for a meeting by a black separatist group, Republic of New Africa. Some 40 police reinforcements stormed the church, and shots riddled its walls, pews and windows.

Fisher said he had no immediate estimate of the cost of restoring the destroyed portions of the church property.

The reward-rebuilding fund was announced after a meeting between Cavanagh, Fisher, New Detroit President William Patrick, Police Commissioner Johannes F. Spreen, District Police Inspector Gordon Smith;

John Feikens, cochairman of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, and Jean Washington, a member of the Police-Community Relations Committee.

Cavanagh and Fisher also urged Detroit residents to adopt a responsible community attitude to ease racial tensions.

They urged citizens not to choose sides in a controversy which developed over a decision by Recorder's Court Judge George W. Crockett last Sunday, in which he ordered eight or nine police prisoners released. Crockett said the constitutional right of the men to have attorneys present during critical periods were violated when nitrate tests were taken of the men's hands. Police said the nitrate tests showed a number had fired guns recently.

Joe Mack's Role

The Booth newspapers downstate in Ann Arbor, Bay City, Flint, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Saginaw have printed an article by their Lansing bureau chief, William Kulsea, which attacks State Senator Joseph Mack (D-Ironwood), and, less directly, the Upper Peninsula.

Mack is made out to be an unprincipled state officeholder and the leaders of the Upper Peninsula's mineral industry are, it is inferred, his dupes.

"The U. P. is the easiest place in Michigan to be a big shot," wrote Kulsea. "All one needs is nerve and guts. Joe Mack's got them. Republicans up there, apparently, haven't."

Kulsea is firing with an editorial blunderbuss. Many Republicans in the Upper Peninsula don't know Joe Mack, although by this time most of them must have heard of him. He represents the western U. P. counties of Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton, Keweenaw, Baraga, Marquette, West Alger, Iron, Dickinson and Menominee in the State Senate.

Kulsea's latest blast at Mack charges that he caused the ouster of Ralph Huhtala, for 12 years the Republican chairman of the 11th Congressional District, because he, Huhtala, had the gumption to oppose Mack's idea of what he was worth to the people of Michigan as a state senator. Huhtala served on the State Officers Compensation Commission along with six other members, but Mack, says Kulsea, singled out Huhtala for personal attack as result of the finding of the full commission that legislators should receive $15,000 a year and $3,000 in expenses.

"Mack screamed his head off, pointing out that he would lose money because of his high travel cost between Lansing and Ironwood, his home town," wrote Kulsea.

Mack is very vocal about anything affecting his own convenience and welfare. He is currently calling for Legislative investigation of North Central Airlines because of the service it gives him between Lansing and Ironwood.

Kulsea wrote, and this newspaper's own investigations bear out the truth of the statement, that Mack went to Upper Peninsula mining companies which buy equipment from Huhtala's employer, Lake Shore, Inc., complaining about him. (Mack was not alone in the maneuver to punish Huhtala; his Democratic colleague, Rep. Russell Hellman (D-Dollar Bay) was also in the act.)

From here on Kulsea gets off the track a bit, suggesting that Huhtala's employers were near dumping him. Huhtala's employer, Lake Shore, Inc., is one of the Upper Peninsula's finest corporate citizens, managed by men of integrity and unusual public conscience. Huhtala sat down with them, and discussed the situation.

Huhtala says, and he can be believed, that it was his own personal decision to withdraw his candidacy for 11th District chairman. He'd held the office for 12 years and served very well in it. It's the kind of post that brings more Excedrine than compliments; but it's a necessary office and the public has a big stake in it because it understructures our self-government at the party level.

Huhtala wasn't going to see Lake Shore hurt because of his personal political activity. It wouldn't be fair to his employers, his fellow workers, the investors in Lake Shore and the communities which depend upon it for economic support. He withdrew.

It should be a matter of public regret that state legislators can create a threat that would make a mineral industry supplier vulnerable to that sort of pressure, but the facts of life seem to be that the situation exists.

The implications are enormous and should concern every voter. Our legislators are elected to represent the interests of their districts in government, not their own interests. Here we see a perverse switch of function and instead of the legislator having to satisfy his district, the district must satisfy him.

When this process carries to the point where a Democratic state senator can virtually dictate the retirement of a Republican congressional district chairman, we've had a miscarriage of government. Mineral industry shouldn't conceive of its security in government relations as resting on the whim of Joe Mack; that's putting the politician above polity.

Commercials

If cigarette commercials are eventually banned from television and radio by edict of the Federal Communications Commission, it will cost the broadcasting industry some $225 million in annual revenues.

That is a sizable hole in any industry's pocket. There remains, however, an untapped source of revenue which the broadcasters are reportedly considering to fill the gap.

"If FCC succeeds in banning cigarette ads, we just might consider hard-liquor clients," one network executive is quoted by the Health Bulletin.

Currently, liquor ads are kept off the air by two voluntary codes. It seems highly doubtful that the industry will risk arousing public wrath by abandoning the codes, and perhaps end up with the FCC promulgating a second ban to include liquor.

If worse comes to worst and their tobacco revenue goes up in smoke, the broadcasters will just have to try to do the best they can with what they've got. Possibly they could beef up their deodorant or toothpaste advertising.

These are examples of products that don't injure anyone; they just make a lot of viewers sick.

Letters To The Press

STUDENT SPEAKS
I have been a student at Ferris State College since September, 1966. I am proud of my college and those who have made it the finest state college in Michigan.

I have been highly disappointed in certain members of the Michigan Legislature for their inability to put the facts together prior to their public statements.

Rep. Vincent Pettipren, chairman of the House Committee on Colleges and Universities, is entitled to his own personal opinions, but he has the responsibility of securing the facts in a thorough and fair manner. If the facts are ignored they will not cease to exist.

The people of Michigan deserve and expect to get a realistic representation of the truth from their elected officials in Lansing.

As president of the All College Student Government, as an interested student and as a person who has formed opinions based on first hand observations of student life and unrest on our campus, I am convinced that Rep. Pettipren has failed to put his limited knowledge of the situation into the proper perspective.

I find it hard to believe that Rep. Pettipren would take 2 1/2 hours of testimony from four white students and one non-student that represent, at best, a questionable and unrecognized small group of students on the Ferris campus without inviting other students, possibly even one who was elected by the student body to represent them.

What kind of research do you call that? I would describe it as not good enough. Public statements based on this kind of performance are a disservice to our college, a misrepresentation of fact to the public and a discredit to the man and the unit of government he represents.

I am confident that a majority of the Michigan Legislature will be able to recognize the fact that our campus is a public institution and not a political battlefield.

In my opinion, Dr. Victor F. Spatheif has done more for Ferris State College than any man in the history of our college. The taxpayers and Legislature have provided us with a beautiful physical plant. We have a distinguished Board of Control, an excellent staff and administration and a fine student body.

Even with all this, we are not perfect, but then again, neither is Rep. Pettipren.

John B. Cook, President
All College Student Gov't.

The ACLU prediction followed Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's announcement Thursday that such words as "God," "Supreme Being," "Creator," "faith," and "spiritual values" will no longer be banned from the lectures. He in effect reversed a policy set out last December.

Lawrence Speiser, head of ACLU's Washington office, said the organization would not file a suit on its own, but might be asked to represent soldiers dissatisfied with the program, which is a regular part of troop training.

Speiser's complaint resulted in the Army's decision to delete religious material from character guidance training manuals, covering such subjects as chastity and driving safety.

Publicity last week about the decision triggered strong complaints from angry congressmen who said their constituents were appalled by the new policy.

Religious leaders, however, reacted generally favorably. Many said they believed a clear distinction should be maintained between a chaplain's religious duties and lectures given as part of a mandatory secular training program.

Follow King's Example: Milliken
LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken Friday issued a statement urging all people to follow the example of "nonviolent pursuit of justice and brotherhood" set by Dr. Martin Luther King.

Said the governor: "On this, the first anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., I believe it is appropriate that we pause to reflect on his objectives."

"For one year, we have mourned his loss. Now, as we reflect on the nonviolent pursuit of justice and brotherhood that he served so selflessly and courageously, we must dedicate ourselves to his cause—which was the cause of mankind. I believe this is particularly important today (Friday), which I last week proclaimed as Martin Luther King Day in Michigan."

"We have grievously missed his leadership. But we can still follow his example of peaceful pursuits for which he was so justly honored."

McNeely Points To Thomas Report

LANSING (AP)—State Democratic Chairman James McNeely said Friday he was "mystified" by Gov. William Milliken's call for a special commission to revamp educational financing.

Only a year ago, McNeely said, the state spent $200,000 for the Thomas report that detailed "whole sets of solutions" for educational problems.

"Many had assumed he was working on a comprehensive program to revamp educational financing in Michigan, acting on the basis of the Thomas report," he said.

"But after several weeks of waiting, we get a message which contains no new program," he added. "I think it's time for some leadership from the governor on this vital issue."

South's hand counted 2 1/2 honor tricks in the Culbertson system. West's two-spade bid was meant to show a strong playing hand with no real guarantee of high-card strength. It might well be the grandfather of the weak jump overall except it was a good hand.

The two-spade bid gave North a real problem. He couldn't bid three hearts. In that very early form of Culbertson, only a jump in a new suit was forcing. He might have bid three spades. They did play cue bids in those days.

MURDER BY AUTO

Although cars kill more than 50,000 Americans every year, we seldom think of a car as a murder weapon. Nevertheless, with growing frequency, motorists are being convicted of the crime of murder by automobile.

The key ingredient, upping the offense from mere manslaughter to murder, is malice. And a jury may find malice by logical deduction from the circumstances of the killing. For example:

A man who was rebuffed by his girl friend pushed her out of the car, ran her down, then backed over her prostrate body. In this behavior a jury found ample evidence of malicious intent, and brought in a verdict of murder by automobile.

Even if a driver has no specific intent to kill anybody, he may still commit murder—if his conduct is reckless enough to imply malice.

Thus, in another case, a man decided it would be great fun to drive up close to pedestrians and make them jump. After playing this little game several times he misjudged his distance and struck down an innocent victim.

Tried afterward for murder by automobile, the man pleaded a lack of any intent to kill. But the court found him guilty as charged.

"Malice," said the judge, "does not necessarily mean an actual intent to take human life. It may be implied, as when an act is done so recklessly as to manifest depravity of mind and disregard of human life."

Still, however, wrongful a driver's conduct, he is not guilty of murder if there is no causal connection between his bad driving and the accident itself.

Suppose, for instance, that a drunken driver is traveling down the street when he suddenly has a blowout. If the car jumps the curb and kills a pedestrian, solely because of the blowout, the driver could not be convicted of murder.

True, a jury might find malice in the way he was driving. But if the blowout would have resulted in the accident anyhow, then the bad driving could not be the cause of death.

Ann Landers

Wife Figures He's 'In' In Many Ways

Dear Ann Landers: I'm married to an alcoholic who refuses to admit he has a problem. He says I'm a nut who has a "fix" on whisky because my father was a drunk.

In addition to his hideous hangovers, I've witnessed an endless parade of women in his life because everything and anything looks good to a booze-up Lothario.

Last night he said, "You might as well face facts, Inez, I'm in and you're out. To be 'in' one must unioose his creative mind and let his imagination run free. Some need marijuana, others use speed or meth or LSD."

"I'm a simple soul," he added sanctimoniously. "All I need is liquor."

So, he's in. Well, I guess he is. He's insincere, infantile, inconsistent, insipid, insolent, incompetent, insensitive, incomprehensible, incapacious, insufferable, ineffective, incoherent, indecent, inarticulate, inert, indiscreet, intolerable and insolvent. Just sign me—Outspoken.

Dear Friend: Outspoken? By whom?

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 18 and in the first year of college. He has a good job from 2:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m., five days a week. He doesn't pay one cent for room and board. I even borrowed $600 from a loan company to make a down payment on a car for him. (He is making the monthly payments himself.)

Last week I asked him to pay the utility bill. He acted insulted. Yet he bought his girl a ring for $650.

Should I open my mouth and ask him to help out? Twenty dollars a month would give me a lift. Or—should I keep my mouth shut and avoid an argument?—M.D.

Dear M.D.: By all means open your mouth. Unless you have lockjaw, that is—in which case, write him a note and request $25 a month. You do this kid no favor when you allow him to freeload.

Dear Ann Landers: Are you real or are you a computer who spits out answers when cards are slipped into a slot in your head? Whatever you are, please answer. I need to know somebody cares.

Whenever a teen-ager writes and complains because her mother is too interested in her business, I die. I'd give anything for a mother like that.

My mother ignores me. She has no interest in what I do, where I go or with whom. She couldn't care less about my school activities. Once I tried to discuss a problem that was cracking me up. She said, "I don't want to hear about such nonsense."

I know Mom will never change, but I hope you will tell the girls with "nosey" mothers how lucky they are. Too much interest is better than none. —Like Alone

Dear Like: Excessively interested mothers outnumber the disinterested at least 20 to 1. Your letter, however, serves a threefold purpose. It might (a) make girls with nosey mothers feel better, (b) let the disinterested mothers know how their daughters feel, and (c) let you know that somebody cares, because here's your letter.

Do you feel ill at ease . . . out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mills Ready To Draft Tax Reform Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee will begin drafting tax reform legislation in about two weeks even if it hasn't received suggestions from the administration, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills says.

"We are prepared to hear the Treasury the week after we get back from the Easter recess. After that we will have to go into executive session," the Democrat said Friday in a telephone interview from his home in Kensett, Ark.

Sources in both parties say the Treasury hasn't been able to agree on any comprehensive tax revision program and department officials are undecided about whether to ask for a delay or make a token appearance with limited suggestions.

Congress returns April 14, but Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy is not due back from a mission to Australia until the next day.

Mills said the executive sessions could be interrupted to hear the administration, but bill drafting would go on by the committee which originates all tax legislation.

One source close to Republican tax planners said any immediate administration recommendations probably would be limited to three items: better regulation of foundations, a

Barbershoppers To Meet Envoy

Barbershop singing has skidded in the Escanaba area a bit, as quartets go, but remains lusty in the chorus field.

That's what President Lowell Sundstrom and his fellow members of the Bay de Noc Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., will tell Lloyd Steinkamp of Kenosha, Wis., when he visits the local chapter next Monday evening.

Steinkamp is field representative of the SPEBSQSA, which has its international headquarters in Kenosha. He will dine with leaders of the local barbershoppers on Wednesday evening and then meet with the membership at 8 p.m. at the Eagles Club.

The chapter's activities and plans for the year, which will be highlighted by the annual Harvest of Harmony in October, will be reviewed and possibly expanded.

Sundstrom said that the chapter, with a membership of 32, meets weekly on Thursday nights and sings monthly or more often. It was making harmony at the Gladstone Smelt Fry at the Yacht Club last Saturday night.

Ag Department OKs Chickendog

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's decision to let meat producers put up to 15 per cent chicken meat in hot dogs without saying so on the main label—appears certain to stir up a new round of objections.

Consumers will have 45 days to submit written views, but the department Friday confirmed earlier reports that there will be no hearings on the chickendog proposal.

Unofficial reports prompted one consumer advocate to write Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin last week that the department apparently "intends to be run by the meat lobby—as some have long alleged—with no effort to consult consumer opinion."

The complaint came from the Rev. Robert J. McEwen, a Jesuit priest who is chairman of the economics department at Boston College and president of the Consumer Federation of America.

The chickendog proposal was passed on by the Johnson administration as part of a package plan to modify regulations for federally inspected cooked sausages.

Former Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had proposed that a series of public hearings be held on chickendogs and other recommendations, including limitation of fat in sausage products and other specifications. But Nixon administration officials decided to separate the issues.

Under existing regulations, federally inspected cooked sausages may not contain poultry meat unless it is clearly pointed out in the main label, such as "frankfurters, chicken added."

Consider Surtax

One group of Nixon advisers reportedly advocates extensive studies before the administration proposes changes in taxation of capital gains, fast depreciation of real estate, treatment of "hobby farming" or other controversial issues.

Democratic leaders and apparently a substantial number of Republicans, however, are convinced the demand for tax reform rules out any delay of a year or more.

Congress also must consider Nixon's request for a year's extension of the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, and Democratic strategists are considering writing some preliminary tax reforms into the extension bill. This would make it easier for congressmen to vote for the bill and harder for Nixon to veto it if he should disapprove of the tax changes.

Robin A. Sheedlo, 18, of 1910 22nd Ave. S., escaped injury when the car he was driving struck a tree on 2nd Ave. S. last night. Police said Sheedlo told them he swerved to avoid hitting a dog. He received a summons for improper lane usage.

Officers said Derouin pulled his car from a private driveway into the path of a car driven by Larry D. Moore, 26, Blanchard, Okla. Derouin told troopers he failed to see the other car coming in the fog. Neither driver was injured. Officers also ticketed Peter E. Frazer, Perkins, for driving left of center Friday.

Police Recover Property, Cite Youths In B&Es

Two 17-year-old youths and four other boys, all age 16, from the Rapid River area were implicated Friday by State Police in a series of breaking and enterings and larcenies in the Rapid River area over the past six months.

Officers said a sizable amount of property taken by the youths has been recovered.

Troopers said the youths were involved variously in at least seven breaking and enterings and three or four larcenies since October, 1968.

Charles Dillon, 17, and Michael Beek, 17, both of Rapid River, were charged with breaking and entering. Beek appeared in District Court Friday but formal arraignment was delayed until he is able to consult an attorney. A warrant will be issued for Dillon, officers said, and the juveniles will be petitioned into Probate Court.

All of the young men were released by authorities to the custody of their parents, troopers reported.

Breakings Listed

Officers said the breaking and enterings took place at Jack's Restaurant, the Rapid River Red Owl Store, Rapid River High School, the Dutch Mill, Pike's Market, and residences of Hugh Harris and Norman Hickock in Rapid River.

Dillon is believed involved in all of the breaking and enterings, officers charged, while Beek was connected only with the breaking and entering at the Dutch Mill. Three of the juveniles were involved in most of the incidents, officers said, and the fourth only in one case.

Larcenies were committed from automobiles parked in Rapid River, from Rapid River school buses, a cottage north of Rapid River and from the Rialto Theater in Gladstone. Troopers said the owner of the

Hoffa To Ask His Release

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James R. Hoffa, who is serving a federal prison term for jury-tampering, will ask that he be released on bond pending a hearing on his claim that wire-tap evidence was used to convict him, it was reported today.

The Nashville Tennessean said it has learned Hoffa's lawyers will file a motion in U.S. District Court at Chattanooga next week, seeking his release until the issue is settled. The newspaper said the decision was reached at a conference called by the Teamsters Union secretary in Chicago last week.

Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, was convicted in Chattanooga in 1964 on a charge he tampered with the jury which tried him in Nashville two years earlier on a conspiracy charge. He is serving an 8-year term in the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa.

The union leader faces another 5-year term as a result of a mail-fraud conviction in Chicago. He will be eligible for parole on the jury-tampering case in November.

On March 24, the U.S. Supreme Court ordered a hearing on Hoffa's claim that the Justice Department used evidence gained by eavesdropping to convict him. The department earlier acknowledged overhearing two defendants "during the course of electronic surveillance directed against others."

The department has not said whether Hoffa was one of the two defendants overheard. Three other persons convicted with Hoffa are serving prison terms.

Nixon's Brother Named Chairman

SEATTLE (AP) — Edward C. Nixon, a quiet worker in his brother's presidential campaign, has been named chairman of the Federal Field Committee for Development Planning in Alaska.

His appointment to the $30,000-a-year post was announced Friday by the Commerce Department. The committee is similar to the Appalachian Regional Commission and others in various parts of the nation which coordinate federal and state programs designed to develop the economy and resources of an area.

The appointment is effective May 3, Edward Nixon's 39th birthday.

Nixon brings a varied background to his new job—California oil workers, Navy pilot, geologist, and for the past two years a commercial staff supervisor for Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co.

He took a leave of absence from that job last summer to handle correspondence at the New York headquarters of presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. He later went to Washington to help with inaugural plans.

Nixon, who made an extensive private trip to Alaska in 1962, said he plans to move cautiously in his first major political post.

"I don't want to comment yet on what may be accomplished ... until I see first hand what has been done," he said. "I will be going to Alaska very shortly and meet with all officials that I can find."

Generation Gap Is Here To Stay

EAST LANSING, Mich. — Some gap between the generations is inevitable, necessary and sometimes even desirable. Without it new ideas, beliefs, values and way of approaching problems would not exist. The world would stagnate.

So says Dr. Margaret Jacobson, family life specialist with Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

"The gap between the generations cannot be closed," she says, "although we can help bridge it by increasing our understanding of the differences between the two generations."

A basic reason for the gap is that young people and adults were born into different societies and are in different stages of their life cycles. Because they live in different generations, they have different experiences.

"We adults can't transfer our experiences directly to our children because things are different now," comments Dr. Jacobson.

"Technical change and increased knowledge have brought about changes in values, attitudes and patterns of living."

"Today's youth lives in a subculture, a world of their own with their own heroes, she adds. They don't look up to the same type of people that today's adults did in their younger days. Adolescents have their own music, interests and codes of behavior, quite different from the adult world."

"Because of these differences, the gap definitely exists," says Dr. Jacobson. "And with so many changes in the last generation, the gap may seem larger than ever before."

"With the innate differences of the two age groups, neither is able to enter completely into the world of the other. However, we can attempt to understand one another," Dr. Jacobson says.

Mrs. Eisenhower Back At Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, widow of the 34th president, returned to the privacy of her Gettysburg farm for an indefinite stay Friday.

The usual tight security was maintained around the farm where she and her late husband, Dwight D. Eisenhower, retired after his two terms in the White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived in Washington early Friday from Abilene, Kan., where funeral services for the general were held Wednesday. She and a sister, Mrs. Gordon Moore of Washington and Belaire Shore, Fla., arrived at the farm around noon.

Before leaving for California on their annual winter vacation in late 1967, Eisenhower executed a deed transferring title of the farm to the federal government following his death.

This becomes effective in six months when the Interior Department plans to develop the 240-acre farm as a national shrine.

The Bark River LCW will meet at the Salem Lutheran Church on April 9 at 8 p.m. Leontine Johnson will show slides of her trip to Australia prior to the business meeting. Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Walter Martin and Mrs. Arthur Sundquist.

GLADSTONE City To Elect Commissioners

It's been a quiet "campaign" for the election of two members to the City Commission indicating a light turnout of voters at the annual municipal election Monday.

Douglas Bovin, 1607 Lake Shore Dr., Holy Name High School teacher who was appointed to the City Commission in January, is running opposed to complete the final year of the term vacated by Frank Stupak.

Three men—Donald B. Anderson, Henry VonBlaskewicz and George Young—are seeking election to a three-year term on the commission.

Young, 403 S. 17th St., is the incumbent and is seeking his fourth term on the commission. He is a pulp mill foreman at the Escanaba Paper Co.

Anderson, 1011 Minnesota Ave., is employed by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., while VonBlaskewicz, 1611

Minneapolis Ave., is a field representative for an architectural firm.

The commission election is the only question on the ballot and the "campaign" has been largely non-existent.

Polls at the City Hall will open at 7 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m.

Confines Use Of Hypnotism

LANSING (AP) — Hypnotism should not be used as a parlor trick or as night club entertainment, a Michigan woman legislator contends.

Litter Warning Given Fishermen

LANSING (AP) — Ice fishermen leaving litter behind will be prosecuted, the State Department of Natural Resources warns.

"Unless fishermen leave Michigan lakes the way they found them at the start of the winter season, many shorelines will become eyesores this spring and beach owners will face a costly task of removing the litter," said John Angulim, chief of law enforcement for the department. Angulim said conservation officers have been instructed to arrest any winter fishermen leaving litter behind. State Police and county sheriff's officers also will help with the crackdown.

Last year, Angulim said, State Police alone prosecuted more than 600 fishermen for litter violations.

Requires Gun Safety Class For Students

LANSING (AP) — Working to clear its calendar for the coming week's Easter recess, the House Thursday adopted one measure designed to curb school vandalism and moved nine other bills into position for final action.

Debate over hunting licenses for minors and a statute of limitations on dramshop suits prevented the lower chamber from adjourning with a completely clean and tidy calendar.

After meeting earlier Thursday in joint session with the Senate to hear an education message by Gov. William A. Milliken, dwindling numbers of diehard representatives worked on amid a last-minute push to introduce more bills.

Clerks stayed on more than an hour after the legislators to read in late bills.

The lone bill passed and sent to the Senate would hold anyone charged with vandalism or "malicious damage" of school property to be liable for triple damages.

Limit Liability

Parents, however, would not be held liable for more than $1,500 in damages by their child.

After some floor discussion, the House moved into position for final action on a bill to require courses in gun handling and hunting safety for anyone under age 17 who applies for a state hunting license.

Introduced by Rep. Robert Mahoney, D-Detroit, the bill would deny all minors under 12 from being licensed. Those 12 to through 16 would be required to meet any of several requirements:

- Have already been granted a license. A Canadian provincial license would be acceptable under the bill.
- Complete a course in hunting safety given by the Natural Resources Department.
- Or take a related test.

A fee of $1.50 would be charged each applicant and credited to the Fish and Game Protection Fund.

Rep. James Smith, R-Davison, objected for a time to the bill.

Objection

"My 7-year-old shot three pheasants last season," Smith said. "A lot of guys 37 (years old) can't do that."

He contended the bill would prevent many youngsters, competent in handling firearms, from joining their dads in the fields.

Rep. Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, called the bill "a most progressive thing — a monument to Rep. Mahoney."

Mahoney, who is blind, introduced his bill after he was sold a hunting license at a J.L. Hudson Co. store.

Commenting on his own hunting activities, Mahoney told the House, "whenever I go hunting I take a slingshot, and I use marshmallows for ammunition."

Also producing more than routine discussion was a bill to reduce the period for filing damage suits against tavern operators.

Tavern Suits

The current statute of limitations on dramshop suits against the person who sells the drink, rather than against the drinker, is two years.

Rep. E. D. O'Brien offered a bill to amend state liquor control laws to require suits to be filed within six months, but the House Thursday amended that to one year.

Debate focused on the question of whether the bill would benefit lawyers more than it would correct wrongs.

O'Brien said the measure "denies the lawyers the opportunity to make a living out of suing everybody."

JUDGING FROM the expression on the face of Cynthia Wilson, 19, you'd think Frankenstein was about to grab her. Actually she's just learned she's been chosen Goose Girl at Hollywood, Calif., and this was her reaction. Her job will be to preside over a gaggle of geese on an infield pond during the track's summer season beginning April 11. (AP Wirephoto)

CBS Cancels Smothers

NEW YORK (AP) — The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour television show has been canceled by the Columbia Broadcasting System for next season after several months of argument between the network and its stars about the program's content.

Robert Wood, president of CBS-TV said Friday that Tom and Dick Smothers had broken their contract by failing to submit Sunday's program in time for a screening last Wednesday by the network and its affiliates.

"CBS has been trying to force us into a breach of contract," Tom Smothers replied in Los Angeles. "CBS is obligated by contract to air 26 Smothers Brothers shows next season."

Disagreement

The brothers have disagreed previously with CBS over cuts which the network made in the show. The Jan. 5 show was dropped and an earlier one substituted after folk singer Joan Baez, who was appearing as a guest, dedicated a song to her husband who is a draft resister.

In announcing the cancellation of the show next season, Wood said that the Smothers Brothers "had consistently failed" to deliver tapes of their shows in time for the network to review them.

In his telegram to Tom Smothers Friday, Wood said the "tape of Sunday's show had not been received in time to be reviewed. He said a show originally broadcast on Nov. 10 would be substituted for it.

"On the basis of our information about parts of that program," Wood said, "we believe that the program in its present form would not be acceptable."

Offensive

He said the network understood that the program included "at the very least ... a monologue which in our opinion would be considered to be irrelevant and offensive to a large segment of our audience, and therefore unacceptable even if this were not the week of the Eisenhower funeral rites and even if Sunday were not Easter Sunday."

The monologue, CBS said, was by comedian David Steinberg and was described as a "sermonette," satirizing the religious lectures used by some stations to sign on or off.

A spokesman for the Smothers brothers said that Sunday's program was previewed by CBS broadcast officials in Los Angeles and that the Steinberg monologue was dropped from the program tape at their suggestion.

Even if it had been left in, the spokesman said, it would not have been "remotely offensive."

Tom Smothers said, "This show was taped before Gen. Eisenhower died, a man for whom we had great respect. It's just another case of harassment."

No Coho For Muskegon River

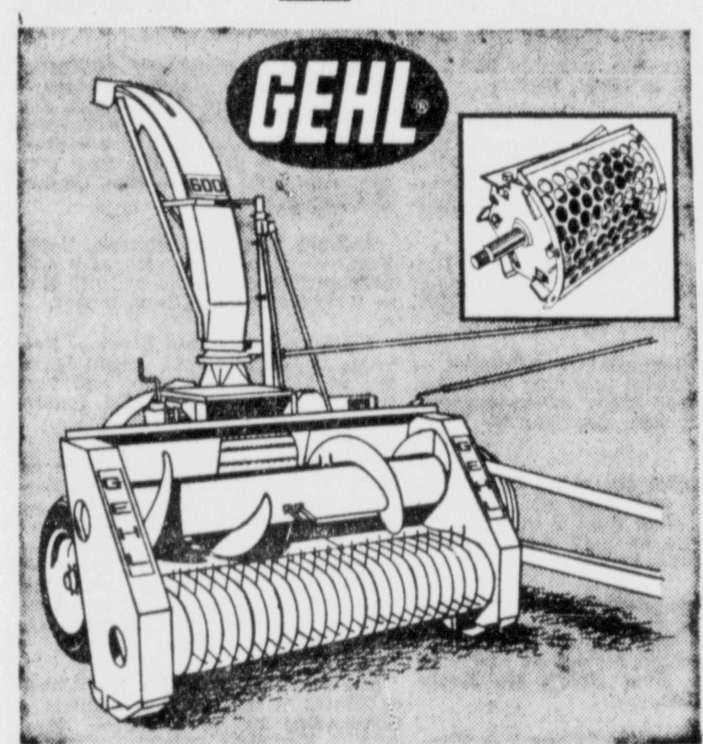

LANSING (AP) — Blaming a shortage in funds, the Department of Natural Resources has canceled plans for stocking the Muskegon River with 400,000 young Coho salmon this spring.

The department said today there was no money to install a weir and provide for other operations to handle fish returning to the river to spawn.

The department said it would cost about $98,000 to construct a weir and about $20,000 a year to operate the facility.

The 400,000 Coho scheduled for release in the Muskegon River instead will go to the Platte and Little Manistee Rivers, which will receive 200,000 each.

Arbor Week To Be Observed In State April 20-26

Michigan is the only state to observe Arbor Week instead of Arbor Day. Proclamation by Governor Milliken has made it April 20 to 26. The week observance started in 1966.

Michigan's national tree leadership points its annual observance of the importance of tree planting. The state grows 90 varieties of trees, more than any state in the nation and more than can be found in all of Europe.

With 59 national champion trees out of the total nationwide of 117 species Michigan leads the nation with more big trees than any other state. Fifty-four per cent of its total land area is classified as commercial forest land.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with the Michigan Nurserymen's Association has prepared a pamphlet giving full information for the observance of Arbor Week. It may be obtained free from the department's Publications Room, Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Mich., 48926.

hymn of the skies

David lived almost thirty centuries ago. He knew nothing of outer space ... of galaxies hurtling through the void ... of particles of energy and matter spinning their way from a one-time explosion toward the edges of the universe.

He knew only the skies of his native land ... their lights and shadows and ever-changing drifts of cloud.

But he knew, as millions before and since, that these skies were no accident. They told him of the Mind and Heart that rules the domain of life. They told him we are not alone.

"The heavens declare the glory of God," he wrote in the 19th Psalm, "The firmament sheweth his handiwork."

Through those same skies rode the star that drew men to the scene of our Savior's birth. Against those skies is always silhouetted the Cross on which He died for us.

Under those skies we'll worship together the Risen Lord.

Managers Express Desires In Pre-Season Selections

By The Associated Press
There are no more optimistic people in spring than baseball's managers. Every year they prove it just before the season opens.

Here is this year's proof—the pennant predictions and hopes of the 24 major league managers:

American League
Mayo Smith, Detroit Tigers—The Tigers have their work cut out for them but I think they have the stuff to win again. I'd say that Baltimore, Boston and New York are the teams to beat in the East.

This is a young club with fine pitching and great hitting.

Dick Williams, Boston Red Sox—Barring injuries, I believe we have as good a chance as any team to win the American League pennant.

We have youth and talent on the Red Sox and, if we can stay free of serious injuries, we have a shot at the pennant. The return of Tony Conigliaro should help us greatly. Also, having Jim Lonborg available all season will make a great deal of difference.

Billy Martin, Minnesota Twins—This has been the type of spring I hope never to see again. Because of brutal weather; injuries to Jim Kaat, Dave Boswell, John Roseboro, Rod Carew and Bob Allison plus late arrivals, we just haven't caught up.

Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox—I feel we have a good chance in our division. Gary Peters, Joe Horlen and Tommy John have rounded into shape well and none shows any trace of injuries. We hope Sammy Ellis can be our fourth starter. Bill Melton is a good third baseman, a new boy who has been hitting around .400 all during spring training.

Joe Gordon, Kansas City Royals—We've looked pretty good. We haven't scored many runs but our pitching has looked real good. Our defense hasn't been too bad. I feel we'll surprise some people.

Bill Rigney, California Angels—I'm excited about the potential. It's the first time I've felt that the starters will carry us and not the bullpen. Our fate is in our young arms—Jim McGlothlin, Andy Messersmith,

McLain Still Is Question Mark

DETROIT (AP) —It's still a question mark whether Denny McLain can pitch for the Detroit Tigers Tuesday in their opening game against Cleveland.

McLain, bothered by tightness in his shoulder, was treated by orthopedic specialist Dr. Leslie Mitchell at Ford Hospital Friday. Dr. Mitchell said he would see McLain again Monday before determining whether he should pitch the opener.

Tiger Manager Mayo Smith said McLain would work out Monday at Tiger Stadium. Mickey Lolich is expected to start in place of McLain if last year's 31-game winner isn't ready.

Meanwhile, the Tigers left their spring training camp at Lakeland and were scheduled to meet the Cincinnati Reds today for an exhibition in Montgomery, Ala. Detroit's final Grapefruit League game is also against the Reds Sunday in Columbus, Ohio.

Joe Durocher, Chicago Cubs—I don't believe in pennant predictions. I predicted once. I said my club wasn't an eighth-place club. It wasn't. We finished 10th.

Preston Gomez, San Diego Padres—We went for young kids in the expansion draft because we think that's the only way we can build for the future. Our kids will lose us a lot of ball games this year but they'll be learning.

Larry Shepard, Pittsburgh Pirates—Things are much better than last spring in spite of the late arrival and the disappointing weather. There have been several bright spots and we haven't had the injuries that we

Dave Marr Paces Greensboro Field

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Texan Jack Burke failed to make the 36-hole cut but his influence was being felt today as the $160,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament moved into its third round.

Burke's cousin, Dave Marr, the 1965 PGA champion, got a quick lesson from Burke here last Tuesday and profited to the extent of a five-under-par 66 Friday that gave him the halfway lead with a 134 total.

Marr, who says he was "playing badly" in eight tournaments before coming here, held a two-shot lead over Gene Littler, Gordon Jones and Rod Funseth in the chase for top money of $32,000.

Marr didn't win a tournament last year, but he earned $63,000 on the tour, then went into a playing slump this year.

A combination of cold mist and fog made the course play longer Friday and some players had a problem with club selection after Thursday's ideal conditions.

The last two rounds are being nationally televised.

A score of 143, one over par, made the 36-hole cut, with 76 survivors.

Funseth, with a scrambling round that included only 10 pars, shot 69 to gain his share of the second place tie with Jones and Littler, who each shot 70.

A shot behind at 137 were British Open champion Gary Player, Dick Lotz, Bruce Crampton, Deane Beman, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Art Wall.

Six more were tied at 138 and very much in the running. They included PGA champion Julius Boros, eight-time Greensboro winner Sam Snead, Frank Boynton, Frank Beard, Grier Jones and George Archer.

Amateur Dale Morey, who shared the first day lead with Littler and Gordon Jones, shot 73 for a 139 total, where he was tied with 15 others, including recent tour winners Bunky Henry and Ray Floyd.

The last two rounds are being nationally televised.

Clendenon Replacement Makes Presence Known

By The Associated Press
Jack Billingham, one of Houston's replacements for disappearing Donn Clendenon, already has made his presence known to the Astros in his first appearance.

The young relief pitcher hurled two hitless innings Friday night and picked up the victory as the Astros beat the Boston Red Sox 5-2 in an exhibition baseball game in Houston.

Only two other games, also at night, were played on Good Friday. Richmond of the International League stopped parent club Atlanta 4-0 in Columbus.

Eastern Topples Brown University
BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Rightshander Dave Krumm pitched no-hit, no-run ball for five innings Friday as he led Eastern Michigan University to a 4-1 triumph over Brown University.

Krumm's successor, Bob Kramer, was touched for two singles and a run but then turned back Brown's attack to give EMU its second successive win on its Spring baseball tour. Brown is 5-4 for the spring season.

Ga., and California defeated Los Angeles 4-3 in 10 innings at Los Angeles.

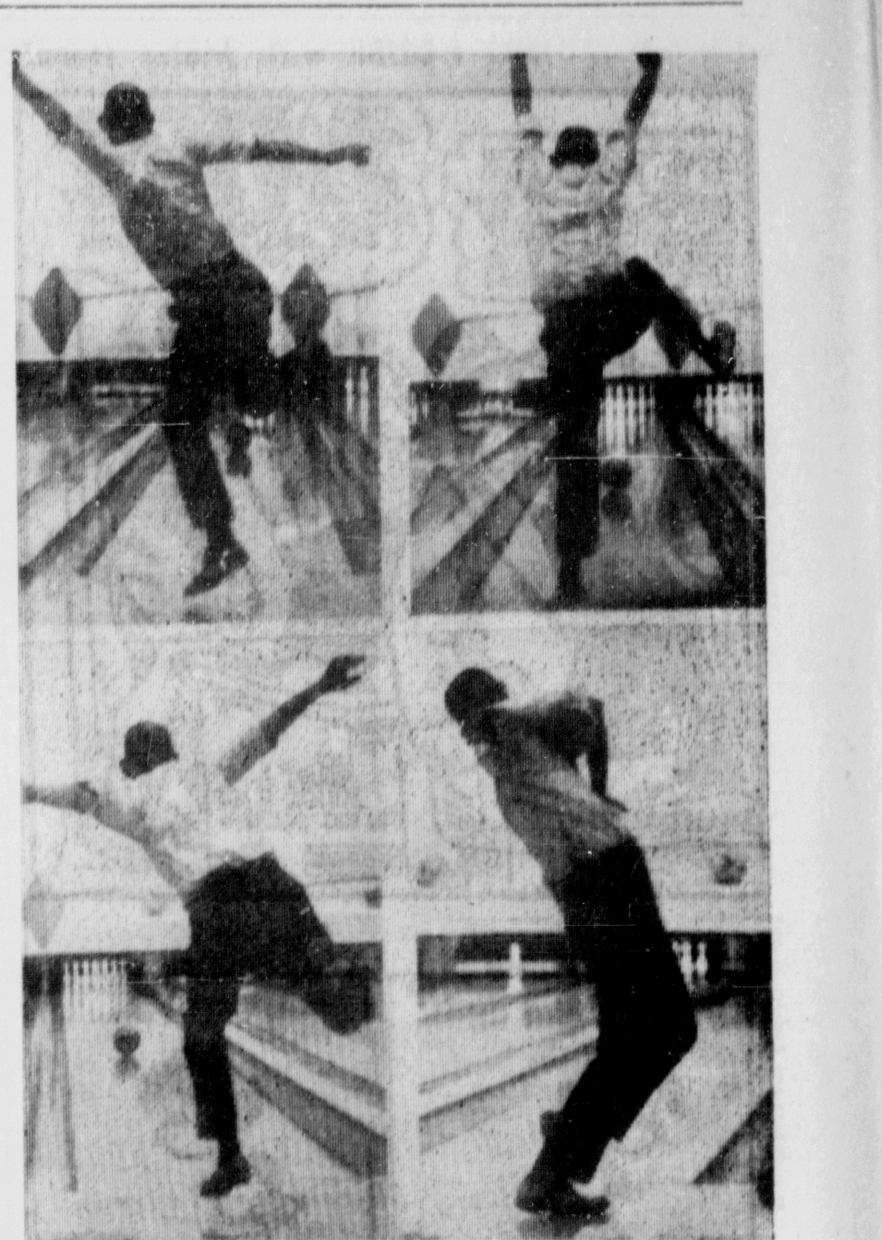

Billingham had just joined the Astros from Montreal in payment for Clendenon, who retired when he was traded to Houston.

Jackie Jensen Moving Around
RENO, Nev. (AP) — Former major league baseball star Jackie Jensen, hospitalized since suffering a heart attack March 19, now is able to move around his hospital room, his wife Kathy said Friday.

Jensen, 42, is "doing very well," according to a spokesman for Washoe Medical Center.

The former Boston Red Sox player is to be released from the hospital in about two weeks. Jensen quit professional baseball in 1961.

Celtics Capture Playoff Series

By The Associated Press
"Philly is dead, Philly is dead," yelled Emmette Bryant, leaving unsaid the obvious: the Boston Celtics are alive again, and kicking.

The rebirth of the Celtics, who finished a dismal fourth in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association this season, came Friday night when they wrapped up their playoff semifinal against Philadelphia with a 93-90 victory for a decisive 4-1 spread in the best-of-seven series.

The Celtics now open the East best-of-seven final set Sunday on national television at Madison Square Garden against the New York Knicks, a surprise 4-0 winner against Baltimore.

In the Western Division semifinals Friday night, Los Angeles closed in on a trip into the final with a 103-98 victory over San Francisco for a 3-2 lead while San Diego evened its set at 2-2 against Atlanta with a 114-112 triumph. Bryant thoroughly enjoyed his first playoff triumph in the otherwise quiet Celtic locker room until teammate John Havlicek, a veteran of many Boston playoff successes, told him to "cool it."

But Philadelphia's Hal Greer, another playoff veteran, couldn't believe that Philly was dead.

"Sure, they're a great team," Greer said, "but to this day, I think the better team didn't win. I can't believe it's over."

It wasn't over until Billy Cunningham missed an off-balance jumper in the last minute after the 76ers had cut an eight-point deficit to 91-90 with 1:20 left. Then Bryant and Havlicek, who totaled 22 points, hit free throws to wrap it up. Cunningham had 23 for the 76ers in a defensive contest in which Boston hit only 33 of 80 field shots and Philadelphia 35.1 per cent.

Los Angeles, which dropped the first two games of its series before winning three straight

MEMPHIS (AP) — Central Michigan University beat Memphis State 8-6 Friday on the strength of 10 hits. Mike Zimmerman was the winning pitcher.

School Holding Young Tiger Shortstop Back

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"It's a shame, it's a real shame," lamented Detroit Tiger Manager Mayo Smith.

He shook his head in a gesture of regret and spoke of Tim Marting, a rookie shortstop who had a fine chance to make the team except for one handicap—school.

"The boy's got quite a bit of ability and we'd like to do more with him, but he has to go to school," Smith said several weeks ago. That was before Marting became one of Mayo's first rookies dropped from the spring roster and sent to the minor league camp at Tiger-town.

The 23-year-old Missouri native was Detroit's first draft choice in January, 1966. He was on the Tigers' spring rosters in 1967 and 1968 but missed nearly all of training because he was going to college.

And he is still going to college—Florida Southern—majoring in physical education. With the Tiger shortstop situation what it is this spring, Marting would have been a fine candidate to stick with the team. But he couldn't be two places at once.

"I come out here late and if I can't find someone to work out with I throw a ball from left field to right and vice versa," Marting said, a week before he was cut.

"Both Grover Resinger (third base coach) and Wally Moses (first base coach) have been real good about it," said the boyish looking infielder. "Wally's been in the batting cage with me and Grover hits me ground balls."

Marting began his college career five years ago at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn. A month later he transferred to the University of Missouri and after a year there became a student at Florida Southern in Lakeland.

"I didn't get to play too much my first two years with the Tigers but this year I'll be able to get in about the last half of every game," he said enthusiastically.

"It's a small school and they only teach subjects once a day and you have to take what they got," he added.

"They've been pretty good about it at school and they let me out early sometime."

"I'll just have to do good in the exhibition games and hope somebody notices," he said.

Next year Marting would be handicapped — he will be graduated in May.

Schools Of Religion Experience Shakeups

NEW YORK (AP) — Friction is running high today in several sectors of the religious academic scene as a result of personnel shakeups, stirring sparks among students, administrators and professors.

Faculty ousters, in some cases, have touched off student protests and calls for outside inquiries.

At Jesuit-run Boston College, about 2,500 students signed a petition challenging the administration's action denying tenure to a noted Catholic theologian, Dr. Mary Daly, and several other faculty members.

Students also staged a mass protest march.

Although voicing respect for the student concern, the college president, the Very Rev. Seavey Joyce, has stuck to the decision, with the backing of the academic senate, and declined to make public the reasons for it.

Don't Like Ideas

Says Dr. Daly: "I can only conclude that the Jesuits here don't like my ideas and want only one point of view expressed. So they've proceeded to eliminate the opposition. What they did, in effect, was to fire me. Diversity of opinion is not appreciated around here."

The holder of seven degrees, including three doctorates in religion, philosophy and theology, Dr. Daly last year authored a controversial book, "The Church and the Second Sex," contending that a male-dominated Church has traditionally restricted women to a secondary place in it.

"Some of the ideas she expressed were considered pretty radical by the theology faculty," Charles Barry, editor of the campus newspaper, said. He said the undergraduate congress was now working to achieve a greater voice in faculty tenure and promotion procedures.

Academic Freedom
In Arkadelphia, Ark., the president of Ouachita Baptist University, Dr. Ralph A. Phelps, resigned after heading the institution for 16 years, claiming an "ultraconservative group" in the state Baptist convention insisted on curbing academic freedom, open inquiry and quality education.

"They're not my kind of cats," he commented. "Baptists claim to be great believers in freedom, but they really only seem to believe in the freedom to agree with their traditional position." At New Orleans Baptist Seminary, where the three members of the theology department have resigned, one in open protest, the American Association of Theological Schools has scheduled a check-up this spring.

Stifling Ways
It is a regular, periodic evaluation, says the association's president, Dr. Jesse H. Ziegler, of Dayton, Ohio, but it will examine "all aspects of the life and operation of the school."

In Atlanta, a meeting of the Association of Baptist Professors of Religion adopted a resolution saying more than a score of professors have left Baptist campuses in the last decade under "the stifling effects of a restrictive atmosphere."

"This must cease," they declared. They cited no specific case. But they protested denational promotion given a book, "Why I Preach that the Bible is Literally True," by the Southern Baptist president, Dr. W.A. Criswell, of Dallas.

The posters, in several different sizes, are being distributed by FAA regional offices, and made their appearances in major airports early this week.

As the supply increases, they are being displayed also at airline city ticket offices and in large travel agencies.

Ultimately they'll be on view at all airports—on terminal walls, on ticket counters and wherever they might be useful. They are available in Spanish as well as English.

Meanwhile, the second week of FAA testing of weapons-detection devices, at various airport passenger boarding gates, was completed without incident, and in most cases without passengers suspecting they were under surveillance.

The FAA started the field testing program at some major eastern seaboard airports, placing the equipment at a few boarding gates used by Eastern Air Lines.

If any of the three devices under test detects a metal object such as a gun or knife on a person passing between the boarding stations, a tiny red warning light flashes on to signal a possible weapons carrier.

WMU Protestors Demand Hearings

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Thirty-three young people all demanded preliminary hearings Friday when arraigned on charges of unlawful assembly in connection with a Thursday night disturbance at Western Michigan University.

About two-thirds are WMU students.

They were arraigned in three shifts before District Judge Richard A. Ensen, who spent 10 minutes explaining the legal procedures and completing the arraignments.

All hearings tentatively were set for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week. Bail was set at $1,000 for Michigan residents and $1,500 for out-of-state residents.

Heads Of Bar Support Judge

DETROIT (AP) — The presidents of four bar associations, including The American Bar Association, said today a controversial decision of Detroit Judge George Crockett "is entitled to be respected."

They said avenues are open to those who would appeal the judge's rulings.

The four men, in a jointly signed statement, urged Detroiters to refrain from "conduct that would interfere with the orderly administration of justice" as a result of Crockett's decision to free eight or nine persons police wanted held after a shootout with a number of black separatists last Saturday night.

Signing the statement were William T. Gossett, president of the American Bar Association; Gilbert H. Davis, president of the State Bar of Michigan; Myron H. Wahls, president of the Negro Wolverine Bar Association, and Arnold W. Lungershausen, president of the Detroit Bar Association.

"Under Michigan law," said the four bar association presidents, "there is an appropriate tribunal in which charges of misconduct against any judge may be tried, and, of course, his judicial decisions may be reviewed in an appellate court."

"Meanwhile, he is presumed to have acted in good faith and in accordance with the law and his obligations as a judge, and his decision is entitled to be respected," the four said.

New Posters Warn Hijackers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline offices throughout the United States are putting up new government-printed posters, warning of the penalties for aircraft hijacking, as fast as they become available, the Federal Aviation Administration said today.

The posters, in several different sizes, are being distributed by FAA regional offices, and made their appearances in major airports early this week.

As the supply increases, they are being displayed also at airline city ticket offices and in large travel agencies.

Ultimately they'll be on view at all airports—on terminal walls, on ticket counters and wherever they might be useful. They are available in Spanish as well as English.

Meanwhile, the second week of FAA testing of weapons-detection devices, at various airport passenger boarding gates, was completed without incident, and in most cases without passengers suspecting they were under surveillance.

Soviet Jets Buzz Alaska

WASHINGTON (AP) — A flight of eight to 10 Soviet jet bombers flew to within 65 miles of the northwest coast of Alaska Tuesday, Pentagon sources disclosed today.

The Soviet aircraft, described as Tu16 Badgers, did not penetrate North American air space, it was said, but veered away and returned toward the Soviet Union.

The Soviet flight toward the North American continent was one of the largest observed by Air Force detection radars in some time.

In the last such incident publicly disclosed by the Pentagon, three Soviet bombers last February flew to within 80 miles of Alaska and in another incident to within 120 miles of Newfoundland where American jet fighters intercepted them.

It was understood that super-sonic F102 interceptors were scrambled at Alaska's Eielson Air Force Base for the Tuesday approach but it was not clear whether they actually intercepted the Soviet planes.

Pentagon sources speculated the Soviet mission may have been designed to check the North American radar detection and aircraft response capability.

Laird Investigates Beallsville Boys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird is investigating further the possibility of withdrawing six Beallsville, Ohio, boys from the Vietnam warfront, an aide to Rep. Clarence E. Miller said today.

Five young men from the town of Beallsville, which has a population of 440, already have lost their lives in the war.

The aide said that while the servicemen all have Beallsville addresses, they are graduates from a consolidated high school which services a population of possibly 1,800.

Miller, an Ohio Republican, requested Laird previously to look into the possibility that the six other men from Beallsville now in the battle area be withdrawn. The Pentagon replied then that nothing could be done.

Honor McDivitt At Cobo Fete

DETROIT (AP) — Astronaut James A. McDivitt Jr., who was raised in Jackson and attended the University of Michigan before embarking on two space flights, will be feted April 19 at a banquet at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The 39-year-old Air Force colonel will be the main speaker at the banquet sponsored by the Michigan Aeronautics and Space Association and the Michigan Aircraft Pilot's Association. McDivitt will discuss his historic 10-day Apollo 9 mission and show pictures taken 150 miles above earth.

McDivitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McDivitt of Jackson, also plans to visit the University of Michigan April 18. He may visit Lansing and Jackson after the Detroit appearance.

The Apollo 9 crewmen spent 10 days in space, returning to earth March 13. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart made a test flight of the lunar module, the space taxi scheduled to take Americans to a moon landing in July.

McDivitt was commander of Gemini 4, a four-day mission launched June 4, 1965, in which astronaut Edward White made America's first space walk.

Dr. Eisenhower Out Of Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower has been discharged from Walter Reed General Hospital after five days of observation which showed he had a mild case of "coronary insufficiency."

Eisenhower, the youngest brother of the late Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, was admitted Monday and was unable to attend the former president's state funeral or burial. He is president emeritus of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

The former president's widow visited Dr. Eisenhower, 69, Friday morning after returning from her husband's burial in Abilene, Kan. He was discharged later.

The hospital's notice of Eisenhower's discharge said:

"A thorough evaluation has revealed that Dr. Eisenhower had a mild transient episode of coronary insufficiency. Dr. Eisenhower is returning to his home to continue convalescence under the care of his private physician who has been in consultation with the Walter Reed staff."

Tilden Pit Ore Has New Future

Investment in a vigorous program of research and development during the last 20 years enabled Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. to make a successful transition from mining of natural ores to the production of nearly 10 million tons of high-quality pellets annually. H. Stuart Harrison, president, declares in the company's report for 1968.

He reveals that a new process was developed last year which will enable Cleveland-Cliffs to recover the iron mineral economically from one of its large ore reserve bodies in the Upper Peninsula.

Although Harrison did not identify that ore body—where commercial production is expected to be under way by 1975—it is believed to be the Tilden pit area south of Ishpeming.

Milliken Requests Pesticide Talks

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken has asked Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel to call a conference of governors of states bordering Lakes Michigan and Superior to discuss pesticides in those waters.

In a telegram, Milliken asked Hickel to chair such a conference to discuss "a joint coordinated plan" for dealing with pesticides. Copies of the request went to Govs. Richard Ogilvie of Illinois; Edgar Whitcomb, Indiana; Harold Levander, Minnesota; and Warren Knowles of Wisconsin.

Edward Jenner, English physician originated vaccination. His crowning experiment took place in 1796.

More Alfalfa In Delta Proposed

Alfalfa has been one of Michigan's most important field crops for more than four decades. But with the alfalfa weevil active in Michigan fields, farmers have "a battle on their hands to keep forage production profitable," says J. L. Heirman, Delta County Extension agent.

"Forty years ago Michigan State University extension specialists and agents sponsored a 5 year campaign to increase the acreage, yield and quality of alfalfa in Michigan," says Heirman. "They saw the value of the forage crop in the dairy enterprise. They stumped the state asking farmers to change from timothy and clover to alfalfa.

"Now the MSU staff is in another educational program on how to grow alfalfa with competition from the weevil and still get yields and quality of forage that will pay the extra production costs. So far, we have not found the weevil in the U. P. We hope we never do, because controlling it adds another cost."

In recent years, according to Heirman, Michigan growers have had about 1,300,000 acres in alfalfa annually and 1,800,000 acres in corn. With the invasion of the weevil, some alfalfa land may go to corn. Much rolling land of lower productivity is not suited for corn, he says, but makes excellent alfalfa land. Delta County has many more acres in hay than corn, but could grow more corn and get greater tonnage of feed per acre.

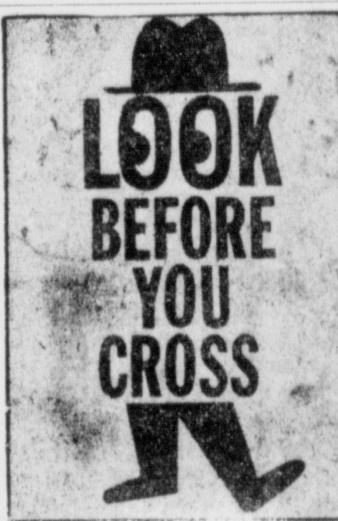

"We could also grow more alfalfa and less grasses for dairy herds and do it on fewer acres," said Heirman. "Almost any well-drained agricultural soil in Delta County will grow alfalfa because, generally speaking, there is enough lime in the soil. Some failures are due to lack of phosphate and potash to feed the alfalfa plant."
